

2nd Bremen Student Conference in English Linguistics

Monday, July 15, 2019, University of Bremen
09:00 – 16:00 hrs

This second student conference offers students of English Linguistics at the University of Bremen an opportunity to present to the university public their own research in the form of an oral presentation. It provides a common platform to share and discuss research results and ideas amongst peers, to get feedback on the projects and to present findings in a semi-professional context. The contributions cover a broad range of research topics concerned with the way language is used in the English-speaking world. The student presentations of the 2nd BSC cover the following thematic fields:

- ❖ Applied Linguistics
- ❖ Language in TV Series
- ❖ Second Language Acquisition
- ❖ Text and Discourse
- ❖ Variational Pragmatics
- ❖ World Englishes

Opening plenary talk (invited)
09:00-10:00, Rotunde (Cartesium)

Dr. Michael Westphal (WWU Münster)
Lisa Jansen (WWU Münster)

Performing Caribbean Identity in Pop Music
Rihanna & Nicky Minaj

Students and faculty are warmly invited to attend the plenary talk and the student presentations

